Fishing trips in old booze smuggling route

The Alcohol Prohibition Act was in force in Finland between 1919 and 1932. During this time, it was not allowed to sell or make alcoholic beverages in Finland. The coastal area around Rönnäs was the main booze smuggling route during the Finnish Prohibition in 1920s, because it is full of small rocky islands and secret hideouts.

Our professional fishing trips take place in this old smuggling route in beautiful archipelago. There is also a possibility to enjoy a memorable island picnic to enjoy fresh food during your fishing trip.
